The Pennsylvania GAZETTE.

Containing the freſheſt Advices Foreign and Domeſtick.

FRANKFORT upon the Main, December 25.

THE Main, the Rhine, and the Neeker, have overflowed in ſuch a Manner as was never before known. Moſt of the Bridges upon theſe Rivers have been carried away by the Violence of the Waters. The Houſes which ſtood at the Extremity of the City of Manheim have been all under Water. The Towns of Neckerau and Altrip are almoſt entirely drowned, whither many Barks have been ſent away to bring away the diſtreſs'd Inhabitants.

London, Dec. 18. They write from Worceſter, that there is now as great a Flood upon the Severn as has been known ſince 1672, and that Boats ply in ſome of the Streets.

They write from Namur, that the Maze and Sambre are ſo ſwell'd by the late continual Rains, that great part of the City is laid under Water, and many Houſes on the Banks of both theſe Rivers have been carried away by the Waters, together with Men and Beaſts. We hear that the ſame Misfortunes have happen'd at Leige, Maſtricht, Maſeyck, &c.

Edinburgh, Dec. 25. We hear from the North, that laſt Week they had the greateſt Fall of Snow that ever was known in thoſe Parts, it began upon the Saturday, and was ſo ſudden, that before next Morning the whole Country Villages were quite cover'd up. It is impoſſible to expreſs the general Conſternation of the Inhabitants, ſome of them being ſo impriſoned in their Houſes, that they could not get out for Fire or other Neceſſaries; others made their Way thro' the Chimneys, and aſſiſted in digging out their Neighbours. A vaſt Number of Cattle have periſh'd; the Snow was reckoned upwards of 10 Foot deep.

Dublin, Dec. 27. Laſt Tueſday Evening there was the greateſt Flood in the Liffey that hath been known, occaſioned by the great Thaw on that and the preceeding Day, which melted the Ice, and brought it down the River with ſuch violent Force, that above ten Lighters were overturned, and many Ships drove from their Anchors.

York, Dec. 30. Our River is ſo ſwell'd, that in ſeveral Streets, and near the Water-ſide, there is no Communication but by a Boat, the River being now ſeveral Feet higher than it has been for many Years,

We hear from Doncaſter, that great Part of the Bridge at the Foot of the Town is broken down, by the vaſt Mountains of Ice that have been drove againſt it.

Leeds, Dec. 30. On Sunday laſt our River overflow'd to ſuch a Degree as was never known, and did conſiderable Damage to ſeveral Tradeſmen. The Poſt-Boy from Ferrybridge was detain'd ſome Hours upon Brotherton Cauſeway, by the ſudden Riſing of the Waters, and durſt neither proceed nor return till a Boat from Ferry-bridge came to his Relief, and carried him back, from whence he did not arrive till laſt Night.

Berlin, Dec. 31. They write from Breſlau, that Count Schaffgotſch, Director of the Regency of that City, publiſh'd a Declaration on the News of the Pruſſians entering Sileſia, the Subſtance of which is as follows:

"That the Regency have heard, with great Surprize, of the coming of the King of Pruſſia's Troops into Sileſia; becauſe they are not conſcious, that either the Queen of Hungary or the States of this Dutchy have done any thing to occaſion it: That the warlike Preparations which the King of Pruſſia had been making for ſome time paſt, having given room to enquire about their Deſtination, his Pruſſian Majeſty gave ſuch ſtrong Aſſurances of his Intention to live in a perfect Intelligence with her Majeſty, that it was impoſſible to think that that Prince would ſend his Troops into this Dutchy, againſt the Laws of Nature and Nations, and in prejudice of the Conſtitutions of the Empire and the Golden Bull: That the Regency omitted nothing in order to preſerve the Friendſhip of the King of Pruſſia and obſerve the Laws of good Neighbourhood with him: That the Marquis de Botta, who repair'd from Vienna to Berlin, was provided with the neceſſary Inſtructions for keeping up that Underſtanding in ſuch a manner as might not prejudice the Rights of the Queen: That the King of Pruſſia cannot form any Pretenſions to Sileſia but what have been aboliſh'd by the moſt ſolemn Treaties; and that upon his offering his Troops to the Queen, her Majeſty ſent Orders to the Marquis de Botta to declare, that ſhe did not mean that the Pruſſian Troops ſhould enter Sileſia as long as ſhe could do without their Aſſiſtance: That the Queen, in her preſent Circumſtances, could never expect that the King of Pruſſia would have enter'd her Dominions in Arms, notwithſtanding the Aſſurances of Friendſhip and good Underſtanding ſhe receiv'd from him, even when he was ſtill buſy in making thoſe Preparations which he now employs to diſturb the the Repoſe of the Empire, in prejudice of Treaties of Peace, and the Conſtitutions contained in the Golden Bull, which expreſly forbids to enter a State in Arms without having previouſly communicated the Reaſons for it to the Sovereign: That the Queen having heard that the King of Pruſſia's warlike Preparations were intended againſt Sileſia, ſhe could not at firſt give any Credit to it, being perſuaded of his Pruſſian Majeſty's good Intentions: That having been inform'd of the Report ſpread abroad that ſhe was agreed with that Prince on this Head, and conſidering that a Report of this Nature was equally prejudicial to her Glory and the Proſperity of her Kingdoms and the Hereditary Countries, beſides the diſadvantageous Suſpicions it might give Riſe to, whether in her own Dominions or abroad; her Majeſty had ſent Orders to the Regency to publiſh the preſent Declaration, as ſoon as the Pruſſian Troops ſhould enter this Dutchy under any Pretext whatſoever: That moreover, as the

Queen

Queen is perſuaded that the King of Pruſſia has taken this Step by the Advice of evil-minded Perſons, ſhe hopes from the Equity of that Prince that he will not refuſe to withdraw his Troops; and that in caſe his Pruſſian Majeſty refuſes to do it, the Queen declares to her own Subjects as well as to all Foreigners who have any Mortgages upon Sileſia, that ſhe does not pretend to anſwer for the ill Conſequences that may reſult from the King of Pruſſia's Conduct; proteſting before God, before all the States of the Empire, and before all Chriſtendom, that ſhe never had any Intention to lend a hand towards introducing any Innovations in the Dutchy of Sileſia.

Hamburg, Jan. 2. Tho' News is very barren by reaſon of the bad Weather, yet a Letter is arriv'd here from an Officer in the King of Pruſſia's Army in Sileſia, which has this Paragraph, 'We are arriv'd here notwithſtanding the terri-'ble Weather, for tho' we have had Wind, Rain, Hail, 'and Snow; the King would be obey'd, and march we 'muſt, in defiance of the Severity of the Seaſon.'

Edinburgh, Jan. 2. The Thaw has ſwell'd the Rivers ſo much that they have done conſiderable Damage, by carrying away Mills, &c. and the Roads are ſo deep that the London Poſt did not arrive here till this Morning.

New-Caſtle, Jan. 3. We hear from Sunderland, that on Saturday laſt in the Evening great Quantities of Ice came down their River, which being ſtopt by the Ships till the following Night, it then forced its Way with incredible Rapidity, ſo that near forty Sail of Ships were drove from their Moorings, three of which were overſet; one of theſe is entirely loſt, and the others greatly damaged. Many others ſuſtain'd conſiderable Loſs in their Maſts, Rigging, Cables and Anchors. Near 100 Keels are ſunk, and ſome few drove away to Sea. The whole Damage is ſuppoſed to amount to 4 or 5000 l. A Man was alſo cut quite in two with a Cable, and ſeveral others much hurt.

LONDON, January 3.

Extract of a Letter from Leghorn, dated Dec. 17

"We have the moſt diſagreeable Weather that can be conceiv'd; and what is yet worſe, there does not ſeem to be the leaſt Sign of its changing for the better. The violent Rains and Snows that we have had of late have ſo ſwell'd the Rivers that run into the Arno, that two thirds of Florence are laid under Water; in many Places of the Town it was upwards of ten Feet deep; and in the Streets the furtheſt from the River, and the leaſt expoſed, the Water was upwards of four Feet. All the Trades adjoining to the River, ſuch as Dyers, &c. are quite demoliſh'd and ruin'd, and carried away by the Violence of the Torrents and Floods The Country all around, which lies Half-way between this Place and Florence, lies quite under Water, ſo that unleſs dry Weather comes ſoon, the Country will be quite ruin'd. For tho' the Water is abated in many Places, the continual Rains keep the Ground ſo very wet, that the Corn muſt inevitably periſh.'

Paris, Jan. 4. The 31ſt paſt the Archbiſhop of this City publiſh'd a Mandate, ordering publick Prayers on account of the great Innundations; and the ſame Day the Shrine of St. Genevieve, Patroneſs of this City, was uncover'd.

London, Jan, 6. They write from the Hague, that they receive News every Day of further Damage done by the great Floods. About 30 Villages in the Neighbourhood of Altena are overflow'd; almoſt all the Cattle periſhed, and they are obliged to carry Proviſions to the Inhabitants who have ſaved themſelves on the Tops of their Houſes and in Trees. At Betaw near Elden the Dyke has been broke, whereby all that Diſtrict is laid under Water, and the ſame Miſchief done as in the Neighbourhood of Altena. They add, that ſeveral other Dykes are broke in thoſe Parts.

Jan. 6. From Warrington in Lancaſhire we hear, that the Floods have been ſo great there lately, that the Streets have been overflow'd, and the Inhabitants could not viſit their Neighbours for the Depth of the Water.

Jan. 10. On Wedneſday the Spring-Tide was ſo high, that in many Places the River overflow'd its Boundaries, and did a great deal of Damage to ſeveral Wharfs and mercantile Goods along Shore, particularly Mr. Pratt's at Miſlbank, Weſtminſter, for the Lime on the Wharf taking Fire, by that Means burnt down his Compting-Houſe,

Paris, Jan. 13. We hear from Argenton in Berry, that the River Creuſe having overflow'd, deſtroy'd the Road lately made there, which had coſt the King above 20000 Crowns; the Bridge of that Place has nevertheleſs eſcaped, but all the Bridges within ten Leagues have been carried away by the Torrent. The Province of Languedoc has alſo had its Share of the great Floods.

Dover, Jan. 28. There is a Tender in this Port impreſſing Seamen for his Majeſty's Service; there is now a general hot Preſs, and a great want of Seamen, as we are daily expecting a War with France, and by the Opinion of moſt People it wont be long e're it breaks out. All the Officers of the Navy dont care how ſoon.

The reaſon of this publick notice is, many of the ſaid debtors live very diſtant from one another, not only in this province, but alſo in the Lower Counties and New-Jerſey; and many of them many years ſtanding; private notice having hitherto proved uneffectual: and thoſe that have any demands againſt the ſaid Evan Morgan, are deſired to bring in their accounts that they may be diſcharged.

JOHN THOMAS, Executor of the last Will and Testament of Thomas Sharpe, deceased, hereby gives Notice, that, altho', true it is, that there was such a Tryal, as is mentioned in the Pennsylvania Gazette, of the second of April instant; where the last Will aforesaid, with a Certificate of the Probate thereof, under the Prerogative Seal of the Arches, was produced, and the Register-General declared to be done in the same Manner as was usual in all Wills brought from thence and recorded in his Office: Yet on some Exceptions taken against the Probate of the said Will, the Jury did find against the then Defendant. But as there is another Cause now depending against John Hopkins and John Inglis, in the Name of the said Register-General, but at the Suit of the said John Thomas, wherein the Validity of the said last Will must again come in Question. He hopes to prove by unexceptionable Credentials, as the Truth is, that the said Thomas Sharpe did really make the said last Will, and did constitute him the said John Thomas sole Executor thereof. And therefore the said Hopkins and Inglis, by Pretence of the Letters of Administration granted to them, have no Right to receive the Debts or intermeddle with the Estate late of the said Thomas Sharpe.
